Preview Preview „alphabetical index, by radif and qaafiyah“ [Dt.-] Frances W. Pritchett (Columbia University) präsentiert auf diesen Seiten die Lyriki des indischen Dichters Mirza Asadullah Khan Ghalib. Dieser lebte von 1797 bis 1869. Vorgestellt werden hier die Ghazals dieses Dichters, die alle in Urdu verfasst sind. Die Ghazal-Poetik wurde zuerst in der persischen Dichtkunst angesiedelt und später in anderen orientalischen Sprachen übernommen. Es handelt sich dabei um ein komplexes Sinn- und Formensystem. Inhalte der Ghazal-Dichtung sind Erotik, Verehrung an die Geliebte, sowie auch geistliche Erfahrungsungen. Ghalib gilt als einer der wichtigsten Vertreter der indischen Ghazal-Poetik. [Engl.-] Frances W. Pritchett (Columbia University) presents at this website the Ghazal poetry of Mirza Asadullah Khan Ghalib, who lived from 1797 until 1869 in India. He was one of the most important Ghazal poets from South Asia. He wrote in Urdu. Ghazals are a specific poetic form with love as the dominant topic. It is time that beats in the breast and it is time. That battles against the mind, silent and proud. The mind that knows it is destroyed by time. Time is a horse that runs in the heart, a horse Without a rider on a road at night. The mind sits listening and hears it pass.... Felicity, ah! Time is the hooded enemy. The inimical music, the enchanted prelude have their place. — Wallace Stevens (cf. Pritchett Professor of Modern Indic Languages Department of Middle East and Asian Languages and Cultures Columbia University New York "This project begins in sheer pleasure, as a chance to combine superb poetry with some illuminating architecture and share it with anyone anywhere in the world. I will try to present basic information about the ghazals straightforwardly, but I also plan to put in whatever scholarly niceties my heart desires. I make no assumptions about you, dear reader, except that you are interested enough to take a look, and to find what you can or what you wish. Hours and hours of my life will go into making this site, and many of them will be hours of absolute delight. So I will already have had my reward. I hope the poetry of Ghalib holds rewards for you too, but years of teaching have shown me that it's not up to me. If Ghalib wants you, against all odds he will reach out and grab you; he chooses his own readers..." Pritchett from Columbia University begins in sheer pleasure, as a chance to combine superb poetry with some illuminating architecture and share it with anyone anywhere in the world. It tries to present basic information about the ghazals straightforwardly. The writer makes no assumptions about you, the reader, except that you are interested enough to take a look, and to find what you can or what you wish. She says "I hope the poetry of Ghalib holds rewards for you too, but years of teaching have shown me that it's not up to me.
